

WAIST TYPE TOWER

INTRODUCTION

Waist type tower is the most common type of transmission tower. It's used for voltages ranging up to 1200kV. Because they're easily assembled, these towers are suitable for power lines that cross very uneven terrain.

